PRISON DISCIPLINE SOCIETY.

Does the Abolition of the Prison Discipline Society, or a similar body, tend to improve the condition of our prisoners? The question has both been formed and unanswerable.

The plan of the Society has been carried into effect with the utmost success. It has been far and away the most successful plan of any kind which we have heard of for the improvement of our prisons. This is admitted by all who have written on the subject, and who are not prejudiced against the plan. The Society has been carried on with the most assiduous attention, and the prisoners have been treated with the greatest consideration.

The conduct of the Society has been such as to merit its continuance. It has been conducted with the utmost care and attention, and the prisoners have been treated with the greatest consideration. The Society has been carried on with the most assiduous attention, and the prisoners have been treated with the greatest consideration.

The plan of the Society has been carried into effect with the utmost success. It has been far and away the most successful plan of any kind which we have heard of for the improvement of our prisons. This is admitted by all who have written on the subject, and who are not prejudiced against the plan. The Society has been carried on with the most assiduous attention, and the prisoners have been treated with the greatest consideration.